2017 Revive your HR Strategies Conference

In today's society, employers need to take their employment policies to the next level. It's critical for managers and HR professionals to revisit the strategies behind such policies. Supervisors, managers, business owners, and Human Resource professionals will be able to take back the necessary tools on how to revive the strategies behind a Drug-Free Workplace and Harassment Prevention.

Join us for this FREE Conference!

This event has been pre-approved for 3.0 hours of continuing education credit for HR Professionals who are PHR or SPHR certified.

Featured Speakers:

John Throckmorton is a Senior Trainer and Account Executive with Tomo Drug Testing. He has been with Tomo since December 2000, serving as a collection technician, field manager, breath alcohol and drug collection trainer, and operations manager. Often referred to as “JT”, John assists businesses with the development and implementation of substance abuse testing programs, performs program reviews for compliance with State and Federal drug testing regulations, and annually conducts over 100 educational and training seminars. John is a 1979 graduate of Baptist Bible College, where he met his wife of 39 years, Carol. They reside north of Springfield, Missouri, have two grown children and two grandchildren. John has been involved in public speaking for over 40 years.

Lisa Yankowitz, JD, SPHR is a professional speaker, corporate trainer, management advisor, coach, HR investigator and expert witness. Lisa educates organizations and associations on a wide range of performance and HR compliance topics. She helps organizations and individuals improve performance by teaching the fundamentals and coaching them on practical implementation. Lisa helps organizations stay out of trouble and stay out of court by teaching employees what they need to know about workplace laws.

Lisa is a people person. Her energy and enthusiasm keeps learners engaged and motivates them to be more successful. She has worked with some of this country’s top employers: Peabody Energy, Marriott, Pella Windows & Doors, Ascension Health, and AT&T.

Lisa started her training career as a Dale Carnegie instructor in 1995 and led the roll-out of “What Got You Here Won’t Get You There,” a program developed by Dale Carnegie Training in partnership with Marshall Goldsmith, New York Times best-selling author. She did her undergraduate work at the State University of New York in Albany and her graduate work at the University of Miami.
